

Workshop: 16 Personalities

On June 20, the first D+ITET workshop took place! People are diverse in obvious ways, such as nationality and gender, but are there also less obvious ways?

In our first workshop ETH career center deputy director Christine Kaiser introduced us to the concept of the 16 personality types. In a small group of 15 Christine lead us through interactive exercises showing us the diversity we find in the personalities of the people around us. One of the takeaways we got was that there are no better or worse personalities, what matters is that we understand the differences such that we can leverage the strength of each.
